

How do I access my website's sitemap?

Omar Solomah - 2021-03-11 - Website Settings

In Google and other search engine's advanced setup, you may be asked to provide a sitemap. This has already been created for you.

The URL for the sitemap is: [websiteaddress] / sitemap.xml

Website address is the URL to your account's website, such as www.myclubrunner.com or portal.clubrunner.ca/123456

As an example if your homepage URL is: www.myclubrunner.com then the sitemap would be found at: www.myclubrunner.com/sitemap-en-ca.xml

Note that this is not a typical webpage to be viewed by the general public, but rather a special file used by search engines for SEO. If you are unable to locate your website's sitemap please contact us.

For customer's with multiple website languages, you can find secondary languages through their language code.

The language code is based on your account's website language and will be a 5 total characters. Here are some examples:

- US English: en-us
- Canadian English: en-ca
- Swedish: sv-se

As an example if your homepage URL is: www.myclubrunner.com and your account is using Canadian English as a secondary website language then the sitemap would be found at:

www.myclubrunner.com/sitemap-en-ca.xml
