We are currently working to resolve an issue that is preventing us from publishing the latest ClubRunner update to all parts of our platform. Our team has identified the root cause, and is working to address it.

We have extended the maintenance window until 12:00 PM North American Eastern Time.

We provide another update on our progress as soon as possible.

Our team was able to resolve the issue, and has finalized the update to the platform.

Thank you for your patience while we worked to correct the issue.
